MRS. MOORE'S

LEARNING FUN

By: Penelope Orfitelli

This year, the 3rd-5th graders all went to Mrs. Moore's room to do the cardboard box challenge where you had to use your imagination and make a project out of cardboard. It was a great opportunity for students to think outside the box!

Also, the 4th graders went to Mrs. Moore's room for some other fun experiments! They made harmonicas and did stream tables too. For the stream tables they used sand and they had to make a stream in the middle of the sand pile. The last thing they did was they had to make towers with toothpicks and clay that could withstand an earthquake.

5th grade made levees with Mrs. Moore. They used a bunch of stuff with fake money to “buy” materials. They also made constellations. They used a battery to power it.

All of these experiments allowed students to be creative and have fun exploring science in a hands-on way!

Spirit days!

By: Leyla E & Isabella K

Our BCS spirit days are very fun! They bring excitement to the day/week. To name a few, Read Across America week, Color week and Start with Hello week. We have lots of different days and themes in these weeks! For example in crayola week you can wear the rainbow from Monday to Friday! We had a vote to see what the students of school think is the best spirit week! In 3rd place we have a tie with Read Across America week and Crayola week. In 2nd place we have BCS Winter spirit week. And finally in 1st place...Color week! The favorited spirit day was definitely anything but a backpack day. That sure was weird! I saw people bring in suitcases, laundry baskets, and even a sled! As you can see spirit week is really fun!

BCS School Events 22-23

By: Ebony Osei and Violet Morrison

The Mike Magic Assembly was a guy named Mike explaining his life story/how he became a magician. He was also explaining why you shouldn't bully people because he used to get bullied by another kid. Then one day, Mike decided to do some tricks with these cards and day by day people would come by and the guy's that used to bully him went from bullying him to sitting with him at lunch. This assembly was a great way to learn about how your actions make other people feel.

The Winter Assembly: This event had really fun games and seasonal songs. My favorite game personally was when you grabbed their legs and used them like a stroller and the person being used as a "stroller" had to grab as many toys as they could with their arms and bring it back to the base (home). We also watched a video of teachers dancing to a winter song! This whole assembly was very fun!

Veteran Assembly: First we listened to the speeches. Then, we honored all of the veterans in the crowd. Later on, we watched a slideshow that left many emotional. It was a great way to celebrate everyone who sacrificed themselves for our country.

Winter Family Night: Winter family night was very fun! There was cookie making, cup stacking, drawing, we had an open gym, and we had exciting raffles! You wouldn't be surprised to spot your friends there.

Art Show: There were so many colorful sculptures and beautiful pieces. It was amazing to see everyone's creativity and artwork on display. The ice cream treat didn't disappoint either!
